Aim of the TRIALOGUE Club International is to introduce the members of diplomatic, military diplomatic, political, and expert circles as well as business community with the relevant positions and opinions of Russian officials and leading experts on the pressing issues of international security, Russia’s foreign, defence, and security policy.

It gives me a great pleasure to speak to such a distinguished audience of professionals, to share my views on foreign and defence policy with you.

Evgeny BUZHINSKIY, Lieutenant General (Ret.), Chairman of the Trialogue Club International, Chairman of the PIR Center’s Executive Board

Trialogue is a meeting place for substantive talk on the key challenges of international security.

The meetings of the Club take place six times a year in Moscow in the form of business breakfast.

Meetings are informal in character, comprising of keynote speeches followed by Q&A and discussion sessions.

In 2016-2017 meetings were devoted to:

- Russia’s pivot to the East – ASEAN dimension
- Russia–United States relations and the future of global security
- Development of the situation in Afghanistan and security threats to Central Asia
- Situation in Syria and Russian policy in the Middle East
- Russia – China – United States: Setting the global rules of the game in Cyberspace
- New situation in the energy markets, Russia’s interests and international politics.

Today for the first time in the last 15–20 years I heard the most reasonable analysis of the situation in the energy world. Some may like it, some may not, but this is reality.
I find the Trialogue Club events highly interesting: they have a relatively a short format, but still give time to substantive discussions. The thematics are well focused and the speakers are excellent. The forum provides a good opportunity for participants to engage in the discussion. When I am not travelling, I prioritize attendance at the Trialogue Club.
